TREASURER APPOINTS DEPUTY TREASURER

Hartford, Connecticut -- State Treasurer Denise Nappier announced today that Christine Shaw was appointed Deputy Treasurer. Christine Shaw is a 13-year veteran of the Connecticut Treasury, having joined Nappier from the very beginning of her tenure in 1999. She holds three degrees from the University of Connecticut: a B.A. in Economics and Political Science; an MBA and a Juris Doctor. Prior to joining the State Treasury, Christine was a litigation associate with the law firm of Day Pitney LLP in Hartford.

In commenting on her appointment, Treasurer Nappier said, "Christine is a seasoned executive manager with invaluable experience in Treasury matters. She will continue to bring to bear her legal and business skills in the cost-effective conduct of our work in safeguarding the state government's financial resources and contributing to the economic vibrancy of Connecticut."

Shaw's previous responsibilities with the Treasury included government relations, communications, investment compliance and, most recently, she served as chief of staff overseeing the operating divisions of the Treasury.
