Treasurer Nappier Receives Creating Opportunities Award from YWCA Hartford Region YWCA

HARTFORD, CT – At its annual meeting on January 28, the YWCA Hartford Region honored State Treasurer Denise L. Nappier with its 2013 Creating Opportunities Leadership Award for her commitment to the financial empowerment of women in the State of Connecticut.

In accepting the award, Treasurer Nappier spoke about her administration's early efforts to serve as a catalyst for financial education, and noted as an example the launch of the YWCA Money Conference for Women, now in its 12th year.

All told, the Conference has helped more than 5,000 women of all ages, ethnicities, and income levels from across Connecticut to gain vital tools and information to make sound financial decisions.

"These type of initiatives give real meaning to gender equality through empowerment, and have long been a hallmark of the Y's unparalleled contribution to promoting the well-being of women and girls," said Treasurer Nappier.

"As a firm believer in empowering women in every aspect of life, especially when it comes to financial matters, I'm honored to be recognized by the YWCA Hartford Region," Treasurer Nappier said. "I'm quite pleased to have had the benefit of its contributions in moving the needle for a more inclusive society."

More detail is set forth in the press release, shown below on pages two and three, from the YWCA Hartford Region.

Creating Opportunities Award winners include Travelers, Aurora Foundation for Women and Girls and State Treasurer Denise L. Nappier

Hartford, CT- “The Board and I are proud that YWCA Hartford Region continues the organization’s rich heritage of offering exceptional programs and services to Hartford and its surrounding communities,” Stacy Smith Walsh, YWCA’s Board Chair, said to the crowd of 100 gathered at the Pond House in West Hartford on January 28th for YWCA Hartford Region’s Annual Meeting. YWCA members and supporters celebrated the past year’s accomplishments and looked to the future. “[YWCA] plans to celebrate our successes while renewing our commitment to meeting the ever-changing needs of the women and children in our community, Walsh said.

During the meeting, the annual Creating Opportunities Awards were presented to organizations and individuals who support YWCA’s mission of eliminating racism and empowering women. The 2013 Creating Opportunities Awards winners were Travelers, Aurora Foundation for Women and Girls and State Treasurer Denise L. Nappier.

Travelers was awarded the Corporate Partner award for their generosity and commitment to the mission of YWCA through philanthropic giving and employee support. The Community Partner Award was given to Aurora Foundation for Women and Girls for being a catalyst of positive change for women and girls in the Hartford community. The Leadership Award was presented to State Treasurer Denise L. Nappier for her commitment to the financial empowerment of women in the State of Connecticut.

“As a firm believer in empowering women in every aspect of life, especially when it comes to financial matters, I’m honored to be recognized by the YWCA Hartford Region,” said Treasurer Nappier. “The YWCA has been and continues to be a powerful force for women and girls, and I'm quite pleased to have had the benefit of its contributions in moving the needle for a more inclusive society."

"These individuals and organizations have helped the YWCA make a difference in our community. Their support has been vital in building a strong foundation for the future," YWCA Hartford Region CEO Deborah Ullman said. "We honor their commitment to the women and families in the Hartford community."

The Annual Meeting's theme was Conversations for Change. YWCA welcomed guest speaker, Katherine Kane, Executive Director of the Harriet Beecher Stowe Center. "I've always loved the YW's mission [of eliminating racism and empowering women]," Kane said. "It is clear, and it is direct. It reminds me every day that I need to act."

She spoke about how Harriet Beecher Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin changed the world and how the Stowe Center continues Stowe's message of equality today. "All of our programming is about inspiring change," Kane said. "We program around equity issues that concerned Stowe."

Using Harriet Beecher Stowe as an example, she encouraged the attendees to confront the issues they care about today and act. "Act today on the issue you've been worrying about," she concluded.
